

DELHI PUBLIC SCHOOL-SONEPAT

DPSS/ADMIN/18-19/15

14 November 2018

Dear Parents

DPS Sonapat has collaborated with Flow India to bring the Flow City School program which is a limited edition program strand that introduces key sites of the city as valuable learning experiences, sensitively aligned to broad skill and curriculum requirements of individual class groups while supporting a holistic investigation of the rich and diverse material culture of the city of Delhi.

The program comprises of a single day's exploration at the National Museum. Through a series of fun activities, museum exploration and investigative questions, your child will learn more about the trade routes of ancient and medieval India and their impact on the socio-cultural of the people. Flow's subject experts will facilitate the session and a workbook will be provided to your child. The workbook will record session activities and what your child has learnt from them. Flow programmes develop your child's knowledge and skills together in a unique way by collaborating with the school to insert uniquely memorable out-of-school learning experiences within the academic learning framework.

We would like therefore to share with you the learning objectives of the program for Class 8 pupils so that you can encourage your child to talk about his/her experience:

Knowledge Objectives:	Skill Objectives:
To understand know the history of different traded commodities. To know that trade routes led the sharing of new ideas, such as Buddhism, and 'composite cultures'. To find out about the Silk Route and the Spice Route and the countries they traversed. To understand the history of money and 'standard measures'.	To use personal experience to understand the impact of trade. To be able to imagine what life was like in different time periods. To be able to research using museum wall displays and label text. To understand (compare and contrast) the relevance of trade in our times
